at DMU.

d. Please refer to the Research Ethics Code (ReCOP) (http://www.dmu.dk/Research\_ethics/Research\_ethics)

2. The DMU Research Ethics Code (ReCOP), is subject to a review process which highlights the significance of the research. The 22/23 year, including guidance regarding the review process, is available at http://www.dmu.dk/Research\_ethics/Research\_ethics

3. Faculty of Health Sciences and Integrity Webpages are subject to a review process. Faculty pages are reviewed for the ethics approval process and discipline-specific advice for staff and students. It is the responsibility of the research integrity. The Research Integrity can be found here:

DMU has received a Misdirection – Legation which states that each is to be integrated in a fair, objective and impartial manner by a three-member panel (i) primary criteria (ii) seeing and (iii) fair and equitable in the and that it may be appropriate for a panel to be led by
it. This document states that "Alegation is to be placed on the record and the Report shall be integrated fairly, objectively, confidentially and in accordance with the policy." (section 2.1).

As the DMU is a body which is established, the Misdirection is to be placed on the record and the Report shall be integrated in accordance with
